Dr. Coker ponders the tradition of Presbyterian football as PC defeats the Fighting Christians of Elora

Tuition was $25

for a freshman entering Clinton College in its opening year of 1880. William Plumer Jacobs combined Presbyterianism and education in the college that he brought to Clinton, an ill-reputed town of bars and gambling houses. Clinton College was dubbed Presbyterian College in 1890. PC was co-educational from the start; in fact, the first graduating class in 1883 consisted of three . . . women. The first dormitory, Alumni Hall, was built in 1891. Alumni Hall underwent refurbishment and became Doyle Infirmary in the 1940's; today it is the 94 year old Doyle Hall. "Jock Rock," so named for its attraction of athletes, was actually built in 1940 as the foundation for an outdoor chapel which was the site of commencement exercises until 1957.

Baseball was PC's first sport, appearing on campus in 1895 and is now nonexistent. Pi Kappa Alpha was the first fraternity to be organized on campus in 1890. Henri-Frederic Amiel stated once that "to know how to grow old is the master work of wisdom, and one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living." PC has discovered this key to maturism without losing her traditional values. Presbyterian College is getting older, but she is also getting better.

Rick Gully, Amy Taylor, and Rob Vernon smile at the changes PC has made of the old tradition

The escape from GDH.

With the reopening of the Leroy Springs Gymnasium on the first day of freshman orientation, a new era of PC life began. The refurbished student center, popularly called "Springs," became THE place to go. According to Catherine Gettys, "... you can do anything, from getting in on a good game of ping pong to just watching TV with friends." Not only were there new places at PC, but we also had many new faces. The Class of 1989 joined the student body in a "greuling" two-day orientation, described by upper classmen as "nothing compared to what we went through."

In addition to the new looks, new faces joined the PC tradition in 1985. Cally Gault stepped down as head football coach and was replaced by an old - new face, Elliot Poss. Others joining PC include Elizabeth Messenger, Judy Schaneman, Jonathan Bell, Bill Shavers, and Bruce Hill. According to Jane Hall, "All the refurbishing seems to be geared towards attracting more attention to PC." Yes, Virginia, PC is new, but she remains true.

Webster defines tried as something that is "tested, proved, trusty, and faithful." It is having endured trials and troubles. Such is the essence of tradition at PC. The evolution of traditions has produced a number of "in's" and "out's" over the years. From the old bell tower to the new clock tower, PC's list grows longer by the year: Sunday lunch at GDH is in, Saturday dinner is out; dorm cards (to get IN), pocketbooks are out; flasks are in, kegs are out; learning is in, cheating is out; intramural sports and soccer are in and so are "shades." The new mailroom is in, the Jock Rock is out; Domino's is in, Pizza Hut is out; Pondo golf is in, import dates are out, Blazer's shrimp dip is out-of-this world; road trips are always in, Douglas House is out. Traditions old and new are "in" at PC.

One facet of PC life that has remained true throughout the history of Presbyterian College is school and team spirit. The "tangible representative of PC spirit" has been the Scottish Highland Fighter with his kilt and sabre. This mascot was adopted in 1973. The name of Blue Hose, however, was adopted in the latter part of the 1950's. The actual origin of this name is not known, but Athletic Director Walter Johnson wrote in 1935, "... I changed the colors to blue, wearing blue stockings and jerseys, and the team not having a name at the time, some sports writer, I do not know who he was, started calling in his articles the Presbyterian College

"... started calling ... the Presbyterian College teams the Blue Stockings."

teams the Blue Stockings. This is my recollection as to the way the way the football team got the name Blue Stockings. It must have been 1915 or 1916 that the name Blue Stockings started." Stockings was later abbreviated to "Hose." Whatever the origin of our nickname, the spirit of PC still "runs" true; in fact, PC pride is colored "true blue."

WHICH COKE IS IT?

The contest between OLD and NEW extended beyond the PC campus this year as debate continued to rage over which Coke is it - New Coke or Classic Coke. The new formula was developed in an effort to give Coca-Cola an edge in the "cola war" against Pepsi. A huge outcry against the removal of the traditional formula caused the large corporation to capitulate and return the old formula to the market as Classic Coke. Sophomore Wendy Smith observed that, "Now that it is back people are buying it like crazy." It appears that old

"... people are buying it like crazy."

Coke still reigns in the cola market. Coke's growth since then has charted a new area - the production and marketing of an exclusive line of Coca-Cola clothes. These have become the "Real" thing to have on the PC campus. Good luck to Coke's new growth, but one hint - don't mess with the tried and true.

"VICE" RAIDS PC

Another new event on the PC campus has radically altered Friday night activities. what was traditionally a time to "turn it loose" has become a time to put your feet up in front of the T.V. Yes, the Miami Vice phenomenon sweeping the nation hit PC this fall. The Pikes especially took the 10:00 hour of Friday night T.V. very seriously, hosting several Miami Vice parties.

The desirability of watching this popular show was questioned by one female sophomore. It was quickly pointed out to her by several Pikes that there were at least twenty-five people crammed into their T.V. room captivated by the "Vice."

Miami Vice theme music blared from our stereos and the show was even worked into a Blue Sox Festival skit. It is definately the new rage at PC.

Some things about Student Life never seem to change. Every year we have to divide our time between the same old things. However, we do find new ways to go about the same old things. The opening of Springs is definitely the biggest SOMETHING NEW this year. Junior Karl Ohlandt observed that, "Student life has become a reality with the addition of the new center." Springs has become a focal point for . . .

"Student life has become a reality with the addition of the new center."

Let's Go Crazy Festival '85

The theme of the 1985 Spring Swing, "Let's Go Crazy," was also adopted as the motto to live by on that weekend in April. A certain amount of craziness is necessary to maintain sanity, and an insane weekend weekend, characterized by almost constant bands, parties, and general rowdiness, was expertly planned by SUB and IFC. Spring Swing, as usual, was the social highlight of the semester.

The Entertainer She Plans The Activities

Debbie White is the director of the newly renovated Springs Campus Center. In her two years at PC, she has watched the changes that have occurred on campus resulting from the addition of Springs. Debbie is in charge of the many activities that help the campus to unwind. From ping pong to frisbee golf, she runs the events associated with the new campus center. Debbie heads not only the Student Union Board but, also, intramurals; in short, she provides the entertainment that makes PC go.

Springs Anew

After being closed for over a year, the new Springs Campus Center was unveiled for public view on August 26, 1985. The rededication one week later marked the beginning of a new era at PC. Springs Campus Center has brought a closeness to the campus. The most advantageous aspect of the new center is that it is the "living room" of the school. Springs gives the college a place to go between classes, after a ballgame, and for study breaks. The facility includes recreational games, an intramural court, television sets, a swimming pool, the student organization offices, exercise rooms, bookstore, and canteen. The unique feature of Springs Campus Center is that it is the original structure built in 1924. This center integrates the old with the new to carry on the spirit that characterizes PC.

Off Broadway

Twas the night before Homecoming, and all through Belk, only skits were . . . well, at least it was a start. Seriously, the Blue Sox Festival is an annual event taking place the night before Homecoming. Several organizations perform less than Broadway calibre skits. This year the Pika's "Twilight Zone" engulfed Bailey's "Hawaiian Vice" and Theta Chi's version of Waikiki. The Hawaiian theme was carried throughout the skits and left us with the one truly Hawaiian statement: "Book 'em Danno" or as the case may be "Book 'em John O."

Homebodies

Both alumni and students celebrated Homecoming on a grand scale at PC this year. From barbeque to ballgames, many alumni were gathered in class reunions, enjoying the company of old friends. Meanwhile the students were engaged in other social activities including decorating competitions, "theatrical" performances, and various things not meant to be published. In any case, Homecoming 1985 proved to be a "looney" of a luau.

Supreme Court

Halftime of the PC/Elon gave one woman the chance to be Cinderella. Ten ladies were selected by the students to represent them on their homecoming court. From these ten, Amy Archer, nominated by Pi Kappa Alpha and escorted by Jay Rule, was chosen "queen of the ball." Her attendants were Lou Davenport and Rachel Grier. Amy was crowned by our own Prince Charming, Dr. Kenneth B. Orr. It is doubtful that many were in by the magical midnight hour on this night of merriment.

The Big Thrill Winner Takes All

Balmy Hawaiian heat bathed Bailey Memorial Stadium on October 19 as the Elon College Fighting Christians, sporting their number one ranking, came to PC to do battle. As defense ruled the day, it was only fitting that the interception by Kevin "the Thief" Calville with 58 seconds remaining cemented the Blue Hose 12 - 9 victory. The titans bludgeoned each other for four quarters, but the Blue Hose finally took the prize to ice the Homecoming Celebration.

Changing of the Guard

In Britain the guard is changed daily, but the event occurs only once every year at PC. That day is Homecoming, and this year, as always, the "old" ushered in the "new." Amy Archer, a native of Decatur, Georgia, was crowned the Homecoming Queen of 1985-86. Leslie Tomasovich relinquished her reign to the new queen on a warm October day. In a quirk of fate, the queen's first attendant is also her roommate, Lou Davenport. The second attendant, sponsored by FCA, was Rachel Grier. Tradition abounds at PC, and next year Amy will again be involved in the "changing of the guard."

PC PREPTONES DO EUROPE !

Twenty members of the PC Choir, nicknamed "The Preptones" for their khaki and blue oxford attire, departed from the Atlanta airport on May 15 for their European Tour '85. Beginning their journey in Edinburg, Scotland, they literally sang their way across Europe under the musical direction of Dr. Charles Gaines. Performing at St. Giles Cathedral in Edinburg; the Cologne Cathedral in Cologne, Germany; and St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome, Italy were certainly the concert highlights. Of course the PC students enjoyed being tourists, too! Each country presented them with its own unique contribution which made the choir's trip a truly memorable tour. Scotland's sheep, and kilts; England's history, teatimes, and theaters; Germany's beergardens, language, and friendly people; East Germany's educational, but stark revelations; Austria's Alps, dirndls, and discos; and Italy's masterpieces of art, lasagne ("it's more cheezy!"), and fast paced traffic are now but memories. The choir never tired of singing; in fact, three weeks later they performed in the DaVinci Airport in Rome when their flight home was delayed for eight hours. Kazy Blocher remembers the impromptu concert at the airport as "one of the most memorable performances we gave" because the choir lifted the people's spirits, and that is what music is meant to do.

Fling Into Fall

Women's Social Hall marked the fall with their second annual Fall Fling. As the major blowout during the fall semester, Fall Fling is characterized by the oddest array of "characters" this side of the Hard Rock Cafe. The festivities began Friday night with a SUB band party in the lobby of Springs. The only complaint was that the band quit without playing "Freebird." Better luck next year on hearin' that classic of Southern Fried Rock. Saturday was the pinnacle of the celebration with the Social Hall's Pondo Party. The day turned into a veritable Star Search competition as PC students performed with the band. The fling serves as the impetus which drives all of the party people on campus into finals and beyond. The unnamed president of WSH summed up the weekend with the comment that "a good time was had by all."

Hi, Mom!

PC Art

The art department at PC offers much more than painting and drawing classes; it also offers communication, industrial design, advertising, computer art, and photography. Art can be as small a design as a watch, or it can be the size of an environmental design. Today, new careers are opening that are art based and lucrative. Art courses include the academically oriented courses of art history and art appreciation. In addition, photography classes with darkroom experience are being offered. Design classes with advertising instruction expose students to career opportunities in the media, and students can be prepared to teach art by enrolling as an art education major. Art is no longer just painting pictures; instead art is a method of viewing the world.

PC Culture

The Cultural Enrichment Program was instituted in the academic year 1983-84 as a means to offer a side of education not normally developed at many institutions. Every graduate must now attend forty cultural events, known as CEP's, during the four years he attends Presbyterian. These events range from Shakespeare's As You Like It to the Ciompi Quartet's concert for the November convocation. The purpose of the Cultural Enrichment Program is to teach the student to appreciate the fine arts and more civilized forms of entertainment. Although the student may not like that particular performance, he can learn to understand that specific type of entertainment and broaden his horizons. CEP's are both enlightening and enjoyable and will continue to play a major role in the liberal arts education.

20th Madrigal Dinner Concert

Madrigals singers seem to be at their best.

Madrigal Singing, brought to England from Italy in the sixteenth century, was at first an informal type of private entertainment at the castles and country homes of the landed gentry. Frequently the lords and ladies performed the music themselves as they sat at dinner in the Great Hall. Naturally, during the twelve days of Christmas Season there was much entertaining and singing by the Madrigals. This tradition has since moved to the PC Community where it is now an integral part of the Blue Hose Christmas.

Christmas 1985

Christmas -- the most reverent time of the year as we celebrate the birth of our saviour Jesus Christ, the Son of Man. Although each year we are buried under exams and Christmas shopping, PC has made it a tradition to celebrate the true happening of Christmas. This year, as always, carols were sung and communion was taken in remembrance of the body and blood of God's only son. Each Christmas this service gives us time to pause and reflect upon the love of God.

SPORTS . . .

Competition and Pride

Did you know that the first sport at Presbyterian was baseball which began here in 1985? Over the years PC has nurtured many fine sports teams -- basketball, football, golf, rifle, soccer, tennis, and, of course, track. Sports enhance our athletic and competitive spirit, keep us physically fit, and serve as an outlet from the classroom. Intercollegiate as well as Intramural competition provide a place for one and all. What follows is a punt, pass, kick, and run through the annals of athletics during the memorable 1985-86 season

Roller Coaster Season

The soccer team ended its regular 1985 season with an impressive record of 6-9-2. They were invited for the third consecutive year to the NAIA District 6 playoffs. They played a tough game offensively and defensively, but could not manage to overcome the College of Charleston, who won the match by a score of 1-0. The season started out with promise, but the team's youth caused an inconsistency that led to what Coach Ralph Polson described as a "somewhat frustrating, roller coaster season." Injuries also plagued the Blue Hose team this season. However, Coach Polson cited some outstanding accomplishments of several players. Brett Armstrong was named to the 1st team NAIA All District 6, as well as Honorable Mention NAIA All-American. John Harrell was named 2nd team NAIA All District.

Pigskin Review

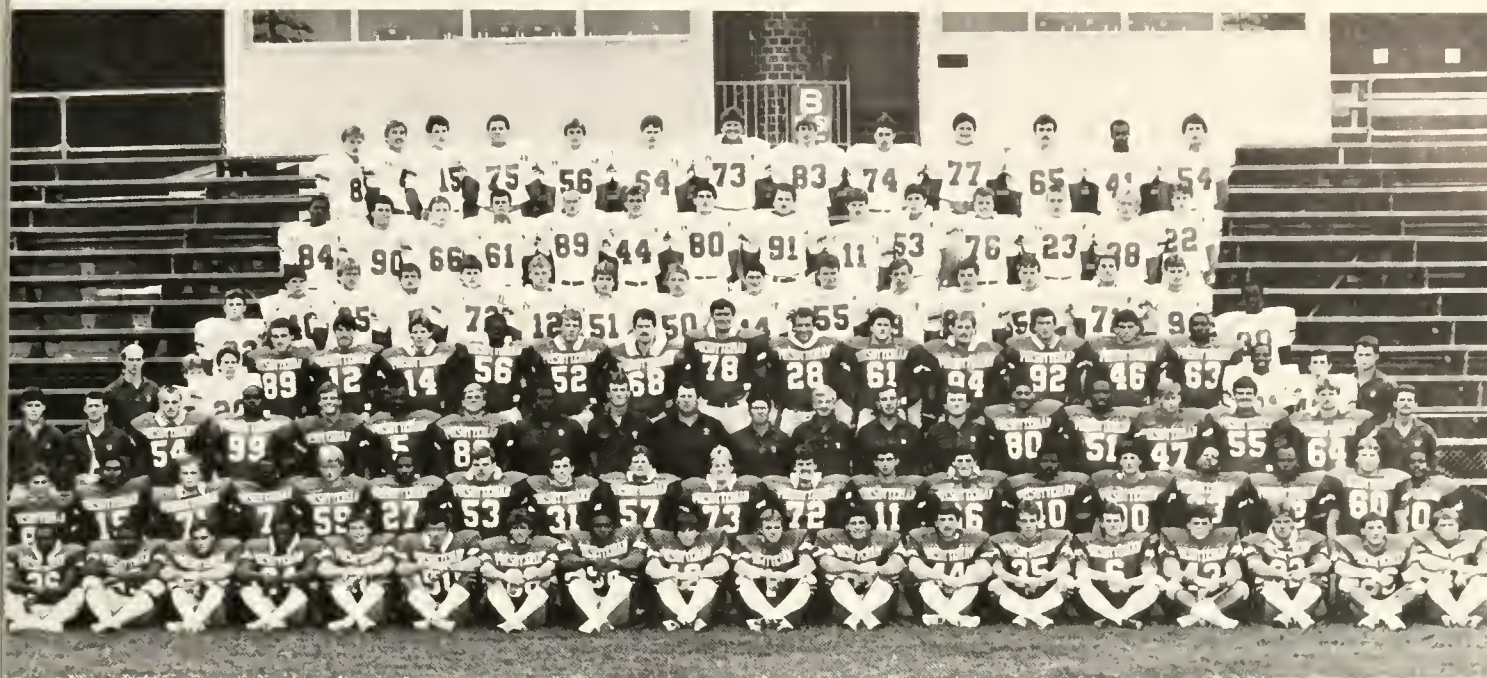

A new era began at PC during the 1985 football season. Cally Gault retired from his duties as Head Football Coach, during which he accumulated legendary success. Elliot Poss, PC assistant for the previous ten years, took the helm and never missed a beat.

The success of the 1985 season came from an interesting mix of old and new athletes. Senior leadership, headed by tri-captains Lawrence Jackson, Rodney Berry, and Charlie Patterson, gave the needed support to some exciting rookies which spelled success through a very tough schedule.

After a classic contest with NCAA opponent The Citadel, the Blue Hose were unable to hold a lead to win. The season started on an exciting note as freshman Stevie Riggins returned a punt for a touchdown on PC's first possession of the 1985 season. After a 31 - 0 blowout of Georgia Southwestern College, the Hose opened SAC - 8 action with a tough one -- point loss to Lenoir - Rhyne as the Bears scored a TD and a two -- point conversion with no time remaining for a 22 - 21 victory. The home opener came on October 5th as Wofford visited the Hose. PC escaped the clutches of the Terriers for a 30 - 28 win on a Culler 37 - yard field goal with five seconds remaining. After a road victory over Catawba 38 - 20, the Hose took a 12 - 9 Homecoming win over the number one ranked Elon College. Mars Hill stifled PC on Parents Day for a 13 - 7 victory over the Hose. In the "mud bowl," PC emerged victorious over Liberty University. PC followed with a blanking of Gardner Webb by the score of 26 - 0, and returned home to grasp a "foggy" 35 - 28 victory over two - time defending champion Carson-Newman.

The final contest of the year was the Thanksgiving Day clash with Newberry for the Bronze Derby. Excitement returned to the PC campus with the 1985 football season, and things are definitely looking bright for the future.

Coach Elliott Poss begins a new era as head football coach, succeeding Cally Gault after 22 years as head football coach and athletic director. Elliott came to Presbyterian College as a student upon graduating from Washington-Wilkes High School in 1967 and earned his B.S. in Economics in 1971. While at Presbyterian, Elliott was a three-year letterman as a defensive back from 1967-1970. Poss furthered his education at the University of Georgia where he received a Masters of Education Administration in 1975. Coach Poss, so far, has led P.C. to a 7-3 record.

CHEERLEADING

The Presbyterian College cheerleaders are an active part of football and basketball games. The cheerleaders attended a cheerleading camp in Tennessee during the summer to prepare for the upcoming 85-86 athlete season. In learning their skills the cheerleaders learn the true meaning of being a Blue Hose; after all, they are the Hose' number one fans.

The "Masters" Program

PC's golf team held its first tee-off in early spring this year. Team practices, headed by Coach Nelson, took place at nearby Lakeside Country Club. Led by the proven experience of several seniors, and despite occasional frustration with various clubs or an "off" swing, the golfers competed well at tournaments throughout the season. Perhaps the aspirations of one of these golfers will lead to a P.C. alumnus at the real Masters.

Volleyball - 85

The Lady Blue Hose Volleyball Team finished the 85 season beating Francis Marion and North Greenville on Nov. 12 at home, giving them a 24-20 overall record and a 9th finish in the district. This was the volleyball team's first winning season. The volleyball team won its first tournament this year by winning the USC-Aiken Tournament. The young squad of nine freshmen and two transfers gained a lot of experience and succeeded in learning the importance of team unity. Only one player will be lost to graduation. Though there were no heroes on the team, several players received awards during the season. Mary Ayres, a junior, was named to the District team of the week; and Sanya Alexander, a freshman, received District Player of the Week Award, All Tournament Team at the Wofford Invitational Tournament, and was named to the first All District Team for the year. The team's record improved from 8-28 last year to 24-20.

It Starts With Love

The Lady Blue currently hold an 11 ranking in the NAIA-ITCA poll. The women open their season against Erskine at home on Feb. 20. The Lady Blue Hose finished third in the district last season and this year hope to improve that finish and hope to receive a bid to the National Tournament in Kansas City on May 19.

Senior captain Lisa Terry, Lynn Kaufman, and Stephanie Cole will be competing for the top three positions while Karmen Babb, Kim McClure, Mary Bridges, Wendy Clark, Jennifer Carter, and Kristen Button will be vying for the 4-6 positions. Doubles combinations will be Terry-Kaufman, Cole-Babb, and McClure-Clark or McClure-Bridges respectively. The Blue Hose are young and somewhat inexperienced, but their positive attitudes and willingness to work hard has helped them tremendously and they have already improved.

Tin Can Alley

With the opening of the 1985 school year, the Presbyterian College rifle team began its second full year of competition. Last year's captain, Chip Holly left big shoes to be filled by this year's captain James Kennedy. The Blue Hose expanded their schedule with matches against NC State, the University of Virginia, and Mercer University. The rifle team's success can be credited to the dedication and hard work of the team members. The team plans to compete in New Orleans for a Regional Championship next school year.

The New Balance

The 1985-86 track team hallmarked a wealth of returning athletes. This year's team was under the direction of a new coach, Bill Shaver. The team is headed by returning field specialist Lawrence Jackson, with Jimmy Lindsay leading the sprinters. The distance runners are led by returning lettermen Alex Bonner and Will Miles.

Up for the Rebound

One big advantage for the 85-86 Lady Blue Hose was the overall athletic talent on the PC squad. The pure athletic talent was one of the best of any women's team ever at PC. Hard work and discipline was a key for this squad.

Lending leadership to this year's team were returning players Martha Williams, Nancy Renwick, Gail Cantrell, Betsy Varner, and Susan Thomas. Adding support and talent were new players Marie Bolt, Karman Babb, Libya Rentz, Lisa Conrad, Christie Suber, and Sanya Alexander.

Net Worth

After 3 twenty-win seasons, the pride and tradition served as the biggest motivating factor for the 1985-86 Blue Hose. Seniors Kenny Howard, James Godfrey, and Earl Connor gave the team much needed leadership.

Coach Blatt tried to take advantage of the speed of the Blue Hose as he used opportunistic fast break offense, combined with a half court passing game to best utilize his talents. Defensively, Coach Blatt used a multiple defense to complement a tough fundamentally sound man to man attack.

Dedication

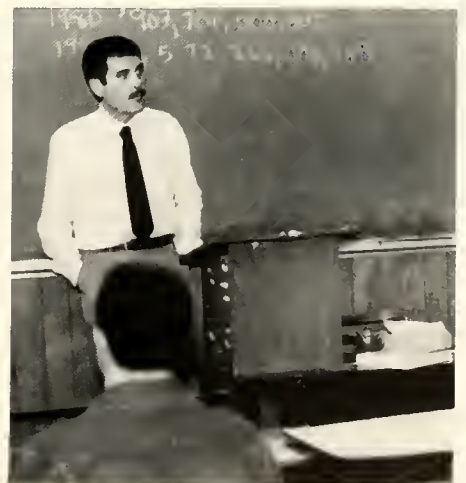

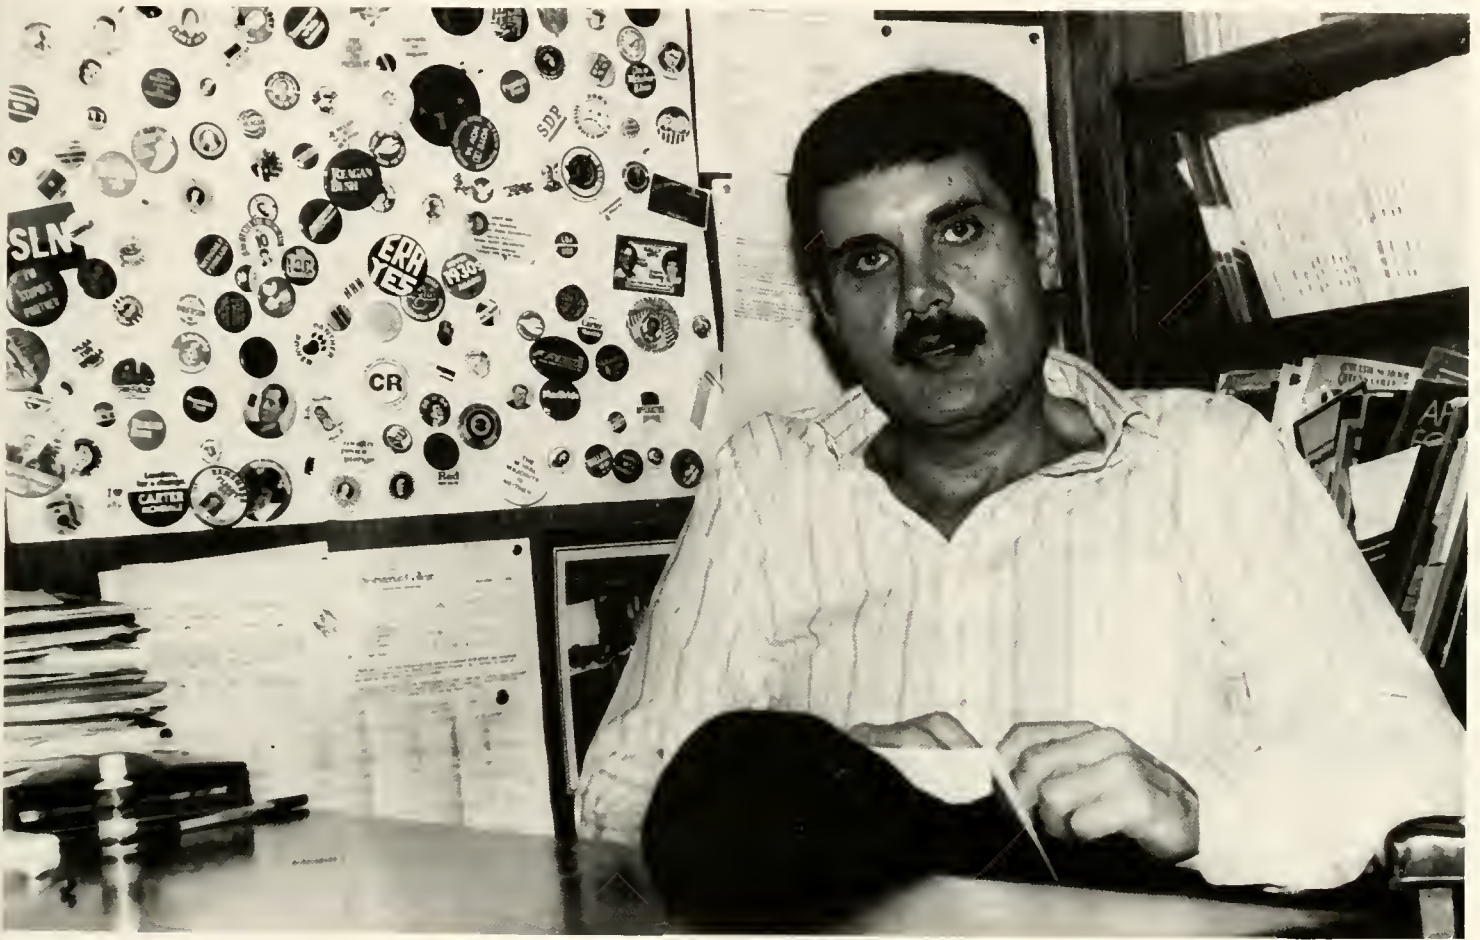

In the summer prior to my sophomore year, I received notice from P.C. that I would be employed as the student secretary for the "then" History-Political Science Department for the coming year. Little did I know that my afternoon job would lead me to a lasting friendship with an exceptional person and professor, Dr. John David Gillespie.

Dave Gillespie joined the PC faculty in 1979 after teaching at Samford University in Birmingham. He holds undergraduate and master's degrees from Wake Forest University. He earned his Ph.D. from Kent State University. Since Dave Gillespie's arrival, the political science discipline has grown at an impressive rate and in 1985 became a separate department under Gillespie's leadership. His dedication to the study and teaching of political science has inspired many students, but more importantly, his commitment to serving students has made a true impact on the PC community.

The list of Dr. Gillespie's service and achievements is endless, but I will attempt to highlight a sample of his contributions. He has planned the very popular annual Spring Break Trip to Washington, D.C. He has organized and serves as advisor for the Pre-Law Society and for Pi Gamma Mu Honorary Social Science Fraternity. As past chair of the Minority Student Concerns Committee he recognized the needs of minority students on campus. He has conducted studies in the Middle East and has published many papers on his findings. He has gone beyond the call of duty in commitment to his profession.

Dr. Gillespie is a true thinker and expects the same of his students. His beliefs are not marked by popular sentiment, but rather by his own convictions of what is right. He is a helper and a doer, an intellectual and a seeker of knowledge and truth. He is a believer in the possibility of achieving brotherhood and peace among all people. He is truly our friend.

Because you, Dr. Gillespie, have so lovingly and unselfishly dedicated yourself to your profession and to serving the Presbyterian College community, we express our appreciation by dedicating the 1986 PaC SaC to you.

As the fourth year comes to an end for the Class of 1986, we salute the "something old" in the student body at PC. Seriously, these seniors were once the babes in arms on this campus, but look to what heights they have risen during their four years at PC. Heck, probably half of them know the alma mater by heart at this late date. When this year's seniors depart from the Presbyterian campus, they will take with them a little of the tradition to which this book has been dedicated. However, what they take with them is more than replaced by the memories and new traditions they have left. Just remember, Seniors, you were once the "something new."

Catch you Later

Those sinful words still ring in your ears — "In the real world, it's all eight o'clocks and no cuts." After four years of the 'easy life' it's time to settle back, start a job, or whatever. Remember wondering if you'd ever pass Freshman English? You did, and now you face the real world. Tough, huh? Don't worry, there are no more tests for which you have to cram. Think of all the sleep you'll get. See, life is not so bad after all. In truth, it is a scary world out there — just don't think about the Sta-Puff Marshmallow Man and everything will be okay.

ORGANIZATIONS

While the backbone of PC is its academics, a student cannot live on academics alone. The organizations form the soul and spirit of a college community. Extra-curricular activities help to round out a good student's college career. PC's first two organizations, the Eukosmian Society and the Ptulomathean Society were literary societies and were founded in 1883 and 1894 respectively. Religious activities had an early start with the birth of the Young Men's Christian Association at the turn of the century. From these seeds, new clubs have sprouted which offer involvement to each student.

Omega Psi Phi was founded at Howard University in Washington D.C. on November 17, 1911 by Professor Ernest E. Just and three students, Frank Coleman, Oscar J. Cooper, and Edgar A. Love. Marhood Scholarship, Perseverance, and Uplift serve as the organization's cardinal principles. Presbyterian College's chapter of Omega Psi Phi was organized on September 23, 1984. Royal Purple and Old Gold are the fraternity colors and the fraternity flower is the Forget-me-not.

Sorority? No, it's WSH

With membership available to every female student on campus, Women's Social Hall is PC's answer to sororities. Located in the newly redecorated Green House, WSH sponsors a Little Sister program with Laurens Junior High School. In addition the local sheriffs held a jail-a-thon in order to raise money for the American Cancer Society. Besides serving the community, WSH acts as a truly social organization whether it be through parties with the campus fraternities, the Crush Party, or through the annual Christmas party. Most recently, WSH has revived the fun in fall with the Fall Fling.

STUDENT UNION BOARD

FOB and SUB Dances, Movies Orientation

Last year the Student Union Board prepared for the opening of Spring Campus Center by expanding SUB with the intention of fully utilizing the new facilities. We expanded from one elected officer to three and from three committees to nine. Membership in SUB is open to all students, who must sign a pledge to SUB and the student motto is "We go to great depths to make things happen."

The Freshman Orientation Board(FOB) is made up of resident assistants, group leaders, and other interested students who choose to return from the summer break a few days early to orient the incoming freshmen. The whole operation is led by the Student Government Association. The FOB keeps the freshmen on a rigorous schedule of meetings, panel discussions, Freshmen Mixer, and Field day, which enables the new students to get a feel for PC life.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Honor Societies

It's All In The Mind

Presbyterian College is fortunate to have four honorary fraternities established on its campus: Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), Sigma Kappa Alpha, and Phi Alpha Theta.

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national honorary leadership and scholarship society for men and women. It recognizes exemplary character and superior quality in leadership and scholarship. Juniors and seniors qualify on basis of character and specified eligibility.

Sigma Kappa Alpha is an academic honors society. Eligibility for membership is based on class standing and minimum grade point ratio of 3.60.

Phi Alpha Theta is a national honor society for the recognition of excellence in History. Chartered on October 21, 1985, PC's Alpha Gamma Theta chapter is open to any student with twelve or more hours of history and seeks to promote interest in history.

ROTC The Right Stuff

The Army ROTC Battalion at PC enjoys a highly respected reputation. The current battalion maintains the same commitment to excellence that has always been a part of the Presbyterian campus. This year Cadet Lt. Col. Kenny Rodes is the Battalion Commander. Cadet Major Dave Murray serves as the mediator between Battalion Commander and the company commanders as the Battalion Executive Officer. This year, instruction has included such material as rappelling, water survival techniques, familiarization with the M-16 and M-60 weapons, anti-armor weapons training, physical training, use of the hand grenade, land navigation, and many other areas of interesting, hands-on training. Two overnight exercises were also included in the year's activities: the Annual Survival Weekend on Lake Greenwood's Misty Island, and the Spring Field Training Exercise in Sumter National Forest

COUNCIL FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

Old and New

The Council for Exceptional Children, or CEC, is one of the oldest groups on campus. It was organized in the early 1970's to stimulate specialized interests within academic disciplines. It is a teaching organization for teachers of gifted students with learning disabilities. This year CEC held parties for Whitten Center residents on Halloween, Valentines Day, and Easter, as well as helped with Special Olympics. They sponcer speakers in the special education field and attend the national convention in Hilton Head, SC. The club requires no dues but holds fund raisers each year.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES

FCA and REGNUH

Taking advantage of Douglas House, both FCA and REGNUH met in the former student center.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes included not only people involved in sports but also students who enjoyed interaction with people who shared their beliefs. Members of FCA met once a week to sing, listen to inspirational messages, and pray. The organization also led a Bible study each week. To raise funds for the organization, FCA volunteers sold refreshments at the concession stand during basketball season. Catherine Redd said that the prayer partner program meant that "someone is concerned about you over the week."

REGNUH worked to fight world hunger. The organization sponsored a campus-wide fast, during which Mr. Vernon Powell paid a percentage from the Dining Hall budget for each meal skipped. According to the president Frank Mungo, half of the proceeds were sent to Ox-fam, a famine relief program, and half were sent to Atlanta's Open Door program.

PaC SaC

Figs and Thistles

Publications Board Working Overtime

Presbyterian College's publication trio is comprised of: the yearbook, The PaC SaC; the weekly newspaper, The Blue Stocking; and the literary magazine, Figs and Thistles. These publications are supervised by the Student Publications Board which is headed by Chairman Chris Bates. The Board is made up of representatives from each publication and functions as a "safety valve" in case of publishing emergencies.

The PaC SaC's editors this year, Michael Sheffield and Maryanne Elrod, were in charge of a 22 person staff who's objective is to capture the past year's moments and good times into an accurate account of history for PC students. The PaC SaC office moved to Springs this year. The Blue Stocking's editor, Mark Horine, was assisted by reporters Laura Hill and Kim Wardlow. This three-person staff presented the students with a weekly summary of relevant events and news items as well as ever-present humor and the widely acclaimed "Tracy's Talk About Town." The campus literary magazine, Figs and Thistles, edited by Missy Gaston, contains poetry and prose submitted by the student body. The annually selected review board chooses the best works for publication with the help of Dr. Rachel Stewart and Dr. Jim Skinner.

Student Volunteer Services is one of the oldest and largest groups on campus. It consists of twenty programs working within and without the Clinton community. Areas of service include Special Olympics, Thornwell, and the Open Door in Atlanta.

Recently, the Student Alumni Council and the Student Admissions Advisory Council were begun as an effort to aid the admissions office in recruiting prospective students through the use of student tours, telephone calls, and hosting overnight visits. The Student Alumni Council has begun a new era in alumni relations as they maintain contact with the Alumni Association.

The Judicial Council at PC is the major disciplinary body of the Student Government Association dedicated to maintaining PC's high standards of honesty and trust. The council presides our trials involving PC students. Student lawyers help defend students brought before the council. This year's council is chaired by John Pittman.

The Interfraternity Council is the governmental body of fraternity court. They also sponsor several dances and parties during the year.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Women's Council is the active voice of women in the student government. Its major goal on campus is to enhance the lives of PC women. Its members serve on the Freshmen Orientation Board, administer freshmen study hall for women and sponsor a semi-formal dance in the spring. The council holds money making events throughout the year which includes selling candy, and Women's Bazaar.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL (OFFICERS)

Arts and Women's Council Life's Just A Stage

The Fine Arts Department encourages and sponsors four groups whose major goal is to enhance culturally the lives of PC students, faculty, and the community of Clinton through musical and theatrical entertainment.

The "Black Magic Theater" is the center of all theatrical activity under the direction of Dr. Dale O. Rains. The actors, called The PC Players, act, sing, dance, and even do a little "ghostbusting" on the side! Recent productions staged by the Players have included The Crucible, Ten Little Indians, The Boyfriend, Romeo and Juliet, A Midsummer Night's Dream, and Scapino!, not to mention numerous one-act and student-directed plays. The honorary dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, gives membership to those who have worked long and hard hours both onstage and backstage.

THE PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE CHOIR

We at PaC SaC would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the PC Choir on a fine European Tour.

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE WIND ENSEMBLE

Choir members spent many hours a week preparing for a performance.

Choir and Wind Ensemble Scaling New Heights

The Presbyterian College Choir under the direction of Dr. Charles Gaines, performed numerous mini-concerts in the fall for campus visitors, and they staged a glorious fall concert complete with orchestral accompaniment. This year's fall concert celebrated the works of Bach and Handel because of their 200th anniversary. The choir's semester culminated with the 20th annual Madrigal Dinner Concerts. These concerts maintained the traditional Christmas spirit they have brought to the campus every year. Spring semester began with the much demanded Broadway Cabaret III which was followed by the choir's Spring Tour up the east coast to New York City.

The PC Wind Ensemble is comprised of twenty-four Presbyterian College students and is fortified by townspeople. The Wind Ensemble is directed by Orval Oleson, a member of the Greenville Symphony. They performed in a Fall Concert, and during the Spring Semester they gave a Spring Concert as well as a Pop Concert to bring a great musical close to a year of entertainment.

GREEK LIFE

With six national fraternities and one local colony on campus, Fraternity Court is the hub of PC's social life. The houses of Pi Kappa Phi, Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Phi, Theta Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu are all located on the court, with Omega Psi Phi, a new local colony recognized by the Lampados Club, stationed in Douglas House.

According to Eric Tillerson, the president of the Interfraternity Council, IFC was involved in several new projects. The fraternity members donated funds to the REGNUH OX-FAM project for the relief of world hunger. Representatives of IFC also attended the annual Southeastern Interfraternity Conference for the first time. Also new to the fraternities was dry rush.

IFC also promoted long-standing traditions, such as the annual IFC Dance and Spring Swing.

The Pikas enjoy themselves at their infamous Nerd Party.

Fraternity Classics

Pi Kappa Alpha was the first fraternity to be established on the Presbyterian College campus. The Pika's Mu Chapter was chartered at PC in 1890; after being established at the University of Virginia on March 1, 1868. Kappa Alpha Order was founded December 1865 at Washington and Lee College around the ideal of maintaining rich southern tradition. In 1868 at the Virginia Military Institute, Sigma Nu fraternity was established. Sigma Nu's Zeta Theta chapter was chartered here on campus January 13, 1951. Pi Kappa Phi came into being at the College of Charleston in 1904 and on March 7, 1907 Beta Chapter was chartered at PC. In its seventy-ninth year Pi Kapp is the oldest continuous fraternity at PC. Theta Chi was founded at Norwick University in 1865 and its Beta Psi Chapter was chartered at PC on December 5, 1942. And on December 6, 1845 at Yale University Alpha Sigma Phi was founded and is now the tenth oldest national social fraternity.

Novel Happenings

Every year fraternities get a fresh start with those early weeks of massive partying known as Rush or Dry Rush, as we call it at PC. Meeting people, reading name tags, forgetting names, reading names tags AGAIN --- and the cycle goes on and on for two glorious hours each weeknight. The upperclassmen gradually tire of the routine but the freshmen glory in the variety of men experiences each night at the fraternity house may bring!?! Exhausting as it is, this yearly ritual pays off in terms of new friends and memories that are made. And of course the most important result of Rush is the new pledges each fraternity chooses!

JoAnna Baarda and Dotty Spradley seem to be taking Rush seriously

Jennifer, Julie, and Jessica enjoy a night out at Theta Chi.

Ginger Fowler and friends party it up at the Sig House.

Recognize any of these "Nerdettes?"

A Traditional Good Time

The fraternity scene is the last word in social life at PC. While a good time is to be had by all, each fraternity is known for certain "unforgettable" events! The KA's always gamble to win with their perennial Casino Party as well as enjoying a Wild West bash and the traditional Old South Ball at Hilton Head, S.C. Roman Holidays, Dream Girl weekend and a "Nerd" Party mark the late night antics of the Pika's. The Theta Chi's make memories at their infamous Sword and Serpent Weekend and their radical "Underwear on the Head" Parties. The Alpha Sig's "party all the time" with their Riverboat and Hawaiian parties and make the season with their Black and White Weekend. Sigma Nu's light up the night with Whitestar Weekend and enjoy the down home pleasures of their Cowpatty and Sadie Hawkins parties. While the Pi Kapp's exercise their social skills with their annual Founder's Day Celebration, Night in Heaven blast, and Roseball Weekend in sunny Myrtle Beach.

Mary, Anne, and Kazy visit the "Party Zone."

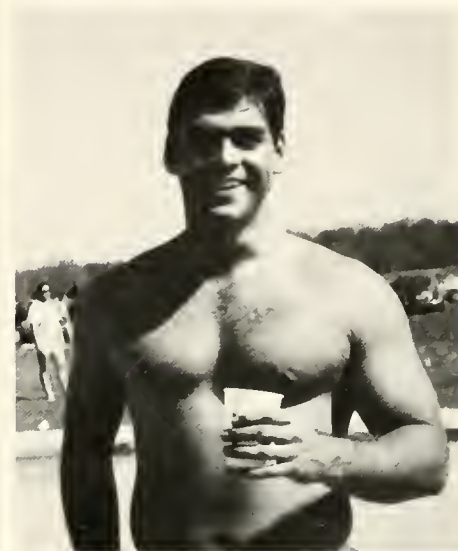

The Genuine Article

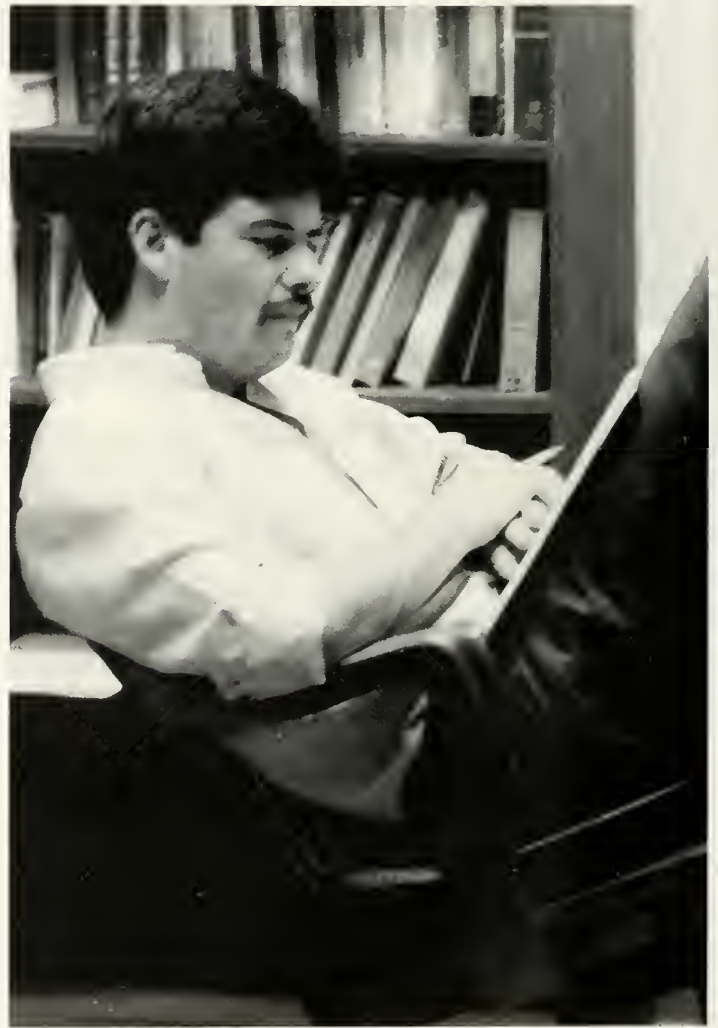

Presbyterian's six fraternities are known for their community service projects. Pi Kappa Phi is involved in the Adopt-a-Grandparent program with the residents of Frampton Hall, as well as promoting the PUSH program(Play Units for the Severly Handicapped). The Sigma Nu's work with the Big Brother-Little Brother program at Thornwell School and raised funds for the March Of Dimes with a Game Ball Run. Whitten Center's Halloween party is handled by Pi Kappa Alpha. While Student Volunteer Services gets a helping hand from Alpha Sigma Phi on the Children's program at First Presbyterian Church. Kappa Alpha is involved in a Thornwell Christmas Party as well as instigating a pledge "clean-up" of Clinton. And Theta Chi Shared their community spirit with a Christmas project distributing food to the needy.

The small town, friendly atmosphere at Presbyterian College extends itself to Clinton, the city which revolves around PC. Traditionally the community members are supportive of students and faculty members. Because PC students frequent various grocery stores, banks, restaurants, and drug stores in Clinton many of the merchants help out by accepting checks with Presbyterian College identification cards.

Presbyterian College cooperates with Clinton on many special service programs, especially those of student volunteer services. Tutoring services, swimming lessons, gymnastic classes, and the Little Brother and Sister projects are few of the things Presbyterian College community has to offer Clinton. Something Old . . .

The Job of a Yearbook Editor

SOMETHING OLD . . . this job gets that way occasionally when attempting to surmount a bumper crop of last minute difficulties on deadline day . . .

SOMETHING NEW . . . the novel insight and perspective of the P.C. community gained by constantly having to keep in touch with faculty, staff, and students in order to get a photographer to a certain place at a certain time . . .

SOMETHING TRIED . . . most often this is our patience when a picture, copy, or layout is misplaced, unfinished, or incorrect . . .

SOMETHING TRUE . . . making the necessary sacrifices to meet deadlines (including 1 a.m. meetings in Richardson), resolving conflicting schedule problems in order to be available to all staff members with questions (including each other), and most of all, a desire to produce a book representative of the entire P.C. family and its collective spirit . . .
